4日午后 アームストロング書記官は渡辺を来訪. さる10月行なわれた第10回協議委員会後 総理府より非公式に提示された日本側案に対するUSCARの回答として別紙トーキング・ペーパーを手交越した.

その際 同書記官は. 外務省限りのバック・グラウンド・インフォメーションとして米側が25.8百万ドルという総額に固執するのは. プライス法との関係で. 現在きわめて微妙な~~[illegible]~~ 試合 とのnegotiationが行なわれており. そこで この額がなかば sacred なものとして扱われているので この段階で日本側から. これ以上の額が出ることは事態をきわめてconfuseすることになるからであると述べ. この点は米側は. きわめて真剣に考えており. 本来ザヘーレン参事官から然るべく御伝えするはずであったが使用でうかがえないため自分が話す次第であり. 分らず上司に伝えられたいと念をおしていた.

(なお. この会談の際 アームストロング書記官はホーム・リーブで 12月20日ごろから約3ヶ月帰国する旨述べた. 御参考まで)

CONFIDENTIAL

TALKING PAPER

November 4, 1966

1. On October 18, 1966, the United States Government presented in the course of the Tenth Meeting of the Consultative Committee its formal proposals for the Japanese program of assistance to Okinawa in Japan Fiscal Year 1967. Subsequently, informal conversations were held between representatives of the Special Areas Liaison Bureau and the U.S. Civil Administration, culminating in the presentation to the USCAR representative on October 24, 1966, of an informal Government of Japan counter-proposal to the U.S. proposal of October 18. The Civil Administration has reviewed this document, and has the comments set forth below.

2. Comments on Individual Projects.

A. Projects Proposed for Reduction:

1. Teachers' salary (No. 1) $7,733,200. No objection.

2. Children's playground (No. 17) $108,000. No objection.

3. Old age welfare pension (No. 20) $1,188,600. No objection.

4. Student health examination program (No. 32) $45,050. No objection.

B. Projects Proposed for Increase:

1. Free textbooks (No. 5) $598,156. No objection.

2. Facilities for University of Ryukyus (No. 8) $552,222. There is no objection to including expenses for a survey of the matter of establishment of a medical school. However, the proposal for Japanese Government examination of medical practitioners in Okinawa should be discussed further.

3. Telephone circuit (No. 34) $583,917. No objection.

4. Weather facilities (No. 43) $382,467. No objection.

5. Weather supplies (No. 44) $126,178. No objection.

C. Proposed New Projects:

1. Trash disposal furnace, $133,333. No objection.

2. Aja port survey, $52,081. No objection.

3. Child welfare, $263,889. No objection provided that the funds are fitted into a total aid level of $25.8 million.

4. Pasture grass improvement, $34,458. No objection.

5. Pineapple cold storage. It is desired that this project be deleted from the aid program in view of the questionability of the economic feasibility of storing canned pineapple in refrigerated storage. The wide use of hormones to control the pineapple harvest period may negate the need for refrigerated storage. There is no objection to the Government of Japan dispatching technicians to evaluate the feasibility of the project.

6. Marine resource survey, $55,556. No objection.

7. Model pastureland survey. The Government of the Ryukyu Islands desires to participate in the survey and to fund the necessary equipment and supplies. There is no objection to the Government of Japan dispatching technicians.

8. Cultural exchange of scientists, $4,167. No objection.

9. Okinawa students cultural center, $30,889. No objection.

10. Miyagibaru rehabilitation center, $55,555. No objection.

3. With the exception of the child welfare project ($263,889), the proposed additions and reductions approximately balance out. The Civil Administration of the Ryukyu Islands prefers that no changes be made to the Government of Japan aid program which would result in any increase above the $25.8 million level. However, there is no objection if the Government of Japan desires to reprogram within the US-proposed aid level - for example, in order to accommodate the child welfare project.
